

The Federal Government should allow, and not preempt, NJ's law to stand. If the FCC adopted this higher standard, it would be doing it job-serving the American People. The American People have, overwhelmingly, supported and adopted legislation to protect their peace and quiet. It is not sufficient to argue that if dinner is interrupted 4 times by solicitations, that a family can just ignore it or hang up. I don't want the calls at all.